

Think You Understand Accounting Fraud in Asia?

Scan this QR Code, or log on to <http://bit.ly/asianfinancialstatement>
for an exclusive preview chapter

About the Book

The first ever in-depth study into detecting financial irregularities in the international financial reporting of Asia-Pacific companies.

- Lays out a proven framework for detecting irregularities in profits, financial position, or cash flow
- Illustrates the most common irregularities in the Asia-Pacific region and some of the warning signs to look for
- Includes a useful checklist for different analysis techniques, an overview of the most common games that companies play, and a full case study of an Asia-based company to help illustrate the concepts

Asian Financial Statement Analysis helps professionals navigate the intricacies of investing in Asian business ventures as they look to expand their investment portfolio. The book is the only resource financial professionals need to better guarantee wise investments and avoid corrupt business practices in the unique Asia-Pacific region.

About the Authors

Chin Hwee Tan is the Head of Capital Markets Asia, Apollo Management. He has been voted by the Hedge Fund Journal as among the emerging top 40 absolute return investors globally; named “Best Asia Credit Hedge Fund” by The Asset, and has also been honored as a World Economic Forum Young Global Leader of 2010 and a member of the Resource Panel for Singapore’s Government Parliamentary Committee for Finance and Trade and Industry.

Thomas R. Robinson is the Managing Director of education at CFA Institute. Dr. Robinson leads and develops teams responsible for the production and delivery of educational content and examinations for investment professionals - encompassing the CFA Program, CIPM Program, Lifelong Learning, Private Wealth, Publications such as the Financial Analysts Journal, Conferences and Executive Education.

WILEY