

Wiley-Blackwell

Focus on...Immunization and Child Health

Enjoy these selected articles on immunization and child health free online

Mothers' facial expressions of pain and fear and infants' pain response during immunization

Rachel E. Horton, Rebecca R. Pillai Riddell
Infant Mental Health Journal

A Local Health Department's School-Located Vaccination Clinics Experience With H1N1 Pandemic Influenza Vaccine

Rahul Gupta, Brenda Isaac, Janet Briscoe
Journal of School Health

Generating memory with vaccination

Flora Castellino, Grazia Galli, Giuseppe Del Giudice, Rino Rappuoli
European Journal of Immunology

Lessons from the first year of the WAIVE study investigating the protective effect of influenza vaccine against laboratory-confirmed influenza in hospitalised children aged 6–59 months

Gabriela A Dixon, Hannah C Moore, Heath Kelly, et al.
Influenza and Other Respiratory Viruses

Invasive pneumococcal disease in children prior to implementation of the conjugate vaccine in the Zurich region, Switzerland

P Gessler, F Martin, D Suter, C Berger
Acta Pædiatrica

Safety of influenza vaccine administration in egg-allergic patients

Richard Reading
Child: Care, Health and Development

Long-lasting immunity by early infection of maternal-antibody-protected infants

Alexander A. Navarini, Malgorzata Krzyzowska, Karl S. Lang et al.
European Journal of Immunology

PODCAST: Combined DTP-HBV-HIB vaccine versus separately administered DTP-HBV and HIB vaccines for primary prevention of diphtheria, tetanus, pertussis, hepatitis B and Haemophilus influenzae B (HIB)

Edna Bar-On
The Cochrane Library

Pediatric Allergy and Immunology: Free content until October 2010

You will find plenty of research on immunization and child health in this journal, so mention the free access to your clinicians. Wiley-Blackwell is offering this free access to celebrate Ulrich Wahn taking over as Editor of Pediatric Allergy and Immunology. All articles from volume 21 are now FREE for you to download until October.