DESCRIPTION

This important new text is a comprehensive survey of current thinking and research on a wide range of developmental disorders.

- Highlights key research on normal and typical development
- Includes clinical case studies and diagrams to illustrate key concepts
- A reader-friendly writing style

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Charles Hulme is Professor of Psychology at the University of York. He has conducted research on a wide range of developmental disorders. His current research focuses particularly on interventions to ameliorate children’s reading and language difficulties.

Margaret J. Snowling is Professor of Psychology at the University of York and a qualified clinical psychologist. She is widely recognized as an expert in the field of children's reading and language difficulties.
• A comprehensive survey of current thinking and research on a wide range of developmental disorders

• Highlights key research on normal and typical development

• Includes clinical case studies and diagrams to illustrate key concepts

• A reader-friendly writing style

To purchase this product, please visit https://www.wiley.com/en-gb/9780631206125