DESCRIPTION

Interest in community psychology, and its potential has grown in parallel with changes in welfare and governmental priorities. Critical Community Psychology provides students of different community based professions, working in a range of applied settings, at both undergraduate and postgraduate levels, with a text which will underpin their community psychological work.

Key Features:

- Clear learning objectives and chapter contents outlined at the start of each chapter.
- Key terms highlighted with definitions, either as marginal notes or in chapter glossaries.
- Case examples of community psychology in action.
- Each chapter ends with a critical assessment section.
- Discussion points and ideas for exercises that can be undertaken by the reader, in order to extend critical understanding.
- Lists of further resources - e.g. reading, film, electronic.
- Authors are members of the largest community psychology departmental team in Europe.
ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Carolyn Kagan, Paul Duckett, Rebecca Lawthom and Asiya Siddiquee are all based in the Department of Psychology and the Research Institute for Health and Social Change at Manchester Metropolitan University. Mark Burton has a visiting position with Manchester Metropolitan University and is a manager in health and social services in Manchester.

RELATED RESOURCES

Instructor

View Instructor Companion Site

Contact your Rep for all inquiries

FEATURES

Clear learning objectives and chapter contents outlined at the start of each chapter

Key terms highlighted with definitions, either as marginal notes or in chapter glossaries

Case examples of community psychology in action

Each chapter ends with a critical assessment section

Discussion points and ideas for exercises that can be undertaken by the reader, in order to extend critical understanding

Lists of further resources – e.g. reading, film, electronic

Authors are members of the largest community psychology departmental team in Europe

SERIES

BPS Textbooks in Psychology