DESCRIPTION

A practical guide to implementing family interventions for psychosis, which discusses different family needs and illustrates different approaches to offering the interventions.

- Approximately 1 in 100 people experience psychosis, which can severely disrupt home and family life and place a heavy burden on carers.

- A practical guide to implementing family interventions for psychosis, which discusses different family needs and illustrates different approaches to offering the interventions.

- Shows how to tailor family interventions to meet different needs e.g. working via interpreter or with families in which multiple members suffer mental health problems.

- No direct competition on family interventions for psychosis.
ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Dr Fiona Lobban is a Senior Lecturer in Clinical Psychology at the Spectrum Centre for Mental Health Research at Lancaster University in the North West of England. She also works as a Consultant Clinical Psychologist supporting family work in the Early Intervention Service for Psychosis in Lancashire care NHS Trust.

Professor Christine Barrowclough is Professor of Clinical Psychology at the University of Manchester, UK, and has been engaged in research and clinical work with families of people with psychosis for many years.

For additional product details, please visit https://www.wiley.com/en-us