Scheduling in Real-Time Systems
Francis Cottet, Joëlle Delacroix, Claude Kaiser, Zoubir Mammeri

DESCRIPTION

* Real-time systems are used in a wide range of applications, including command and control systems, flight control, telecommunication systems, and online purchase payment

* Provides an accessible yet comprehensive treatment

* of real-time computing and communications systems

* Outlines the basics of real-time scheduling and scheduling policies designed for real-time applications

* Each chapter contains examples and case studies along with test exercises and solutions

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Francis Cottet and Joëlle Delacroix are the authors of Scheduling in Real-Time Systems, published by Wiley.