A History of Literary Criticism: From Plato to the Present
M. A. R. Habib

DESCRIPTION

This comprehensive guide to the history of literary criticism from antiquity to the present day provides an authoritative overview of the major movements, figures, and texts of literary criticism, as well as surveying their cultural, historical, and philosophical contexts.

- Supplies the cultural, historical and philosophical background to the literary criticism of each era
- Enables students to see the development of literary criticism in context
- Organised chronologically, from classical literary criticism through to deconstruction
- Considers a wide range of thinkers and events from the French Revolution to Freud’s views on civilization
- Can be used alongside any anthology of literary criticism or as a coherent stand-alone introduction
ABOUT THE AUTHOR

M.A.R. Habib is Associate Professor of English at Rutgers University. He received his D.Phil. in English from Oxford University, and is the author of five books, including Modern Literary Criticism and Theory: A History (Blackwell, 2007).

FEATURES

• An informed guide to the history of literary criticism from antiquity to the present day

• Supplies the cultural, historical and philosophical background to the literary criticism of each era

• Enables students to see the development of literary criticism in context

• Organised chronologically, from classical literary criticism through to deconstruction

• Considers a wide range of thinkers and events from the French Revolution to Freud’s views on civilization

• Can be used alongside any anthology of literary criticism or as a coherent stand-alone introduction

For additional product details, please visit https://www.wiley.com/en-us