DESCRIPTION

The second volume in a series designed to keep agricultural leaders abreast of the most up-to-date information concerning global agriculture, Perspectives in World Food and Agriculture, Volume 2 brings together cutting-edge agricultural research and the latest views on agricultural policy. Written by internationally renowned researchers, scientists, and academics, Volume 2 includes:

• The UN's approaches to address global food security and poverty

• An essay by the World Food Prize Laureate

• Globalization, emerging diseases, and invasive specie

• Environmental sustainability

• Plant-derived vaccines, antibiotic bans, and health impacts
The future of agricultural biotechnology

The pivotal role of agriculture in human development

Global agricultural statistics and projections

Aimed at faculty, undergraduate and graduate students in colleges of agriculture, policy makers, government and industry scientists, public libraries, farmers and agribusiness operators, this book is key to keeping current on agricultural research and policy.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

John Miranowski, PhD, is a professor and agricultural economist for Iowa State University, Ames. Harvard-educated, Dr. Miranowski served as Director, Resources and Technology Division for the USDA. As Executive Coordinator of the Secretary's Policy Coordination Council, he worked to develop and implement programs on water quality, food safety, pest control and other vital topics. He has written and served as editor for several books and numerous refereed papers in environmental and resource economics and agricultural policy.

Colin Scanes, PhD, is a professor of animal science at Iowa State University, Ames. He took his PhD at the University of Wales and has served in a variety of leadership roles in colleges of agriculture in North America. Dr. Scanes is widely recognized for his work in endocrinology of domestic animals, and is the author of numerous papers and research publications.

FEATURES

Latest, most up-to-date information concerning global agriculture;
- Written by internationally renowned researchers, scientists, and academics;

- Brings together cutting-edge agricultural research and the most current views on agriculture policy;

- Includes an essay from the World Food Prize laureate;

- Multiple chapters address world hunger and poverty; health, nutrition, and environment; agriculture and rural development in industrialized countries; world agriculture issues.

For additional product details, please visit https://www.wiley.com/en-us