A Companion to the History of the English Language
Haruko Momma (Editor), Michael Matto (Editor)

DESCRIPTION

A Companion to the History of the English Language addresses the linguistic, cultural, social, and literary approaches to language study. The first text to offer a complete survey of the field, this volume provides the most up-to-date insights of leading international scholars.

- An accessible reference to the history of the English language
- Comprises more than sixty essays written by leading international scholars
- Aids literature students in incorporating language study into their work
- Includes an historical survey of the English language, from its Germanic and Indo-European beginnings to modern British and American English
- Enriched with maps, diagrams, and illustrations from historical publications
- Introduces the latest scholarship in the field
ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Haruko Momma is Associate Professor of English at New York University. She is the author of The Composition of Old English Poetry (1997) and From Philology to English Studies: Language and Culture in the Nineteenth Century (2009).

Michael Matto is Assistant Professor of English and Director of Writing Programs at Adelphi University. He has published articles on Old English language, literature, and culture, and is currently editing (with Greg Delanty) a collection of new literary translations of Old English poems (2009).

FEATURES

• An accessible reference to the history of the English language
• Comprises fifty-nine essays written by scholars from fourteen countries
• Aids literature students in incorporating language study into their work
• Includes an historical survey of the English language, from its Indo-European and Germanic beginnings to modern British and American English and to the rise of colonial and post-colonial varieties of English
• Enriched with useful tools such as a chronological list of events and a glossary
• Introduces the latest scholarship in the field

SERIES

Blackwell Companions to Literature and Culture
For additional product details, please visit https://www.wiley.com/en-us