This comprehensive book celebrates the coming of age of narrative in health care. It uses narrative to go beyond the patient's story and address social, cultural, ethical, psychological, organizational and linguistic issues.

This book has been written to help health professionals and social scientists to use narrative more effectively in their everyday work and writing.

The book is split into three, comprehensive sections; Narratives, Counter-narratives and Meta-narratives.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Brian Hurwitz, NHS GP, Professor of Medicine and the Arts, King's College, London.

Trish Greenhalgh is an internationally recognised academic in primary health care and trained as a GP. She joined the Department in January 2015 after previously holding professorships at University College London and Queen Mary University of London.

Vieda Skultans is the editor of Narrative Research in Health and Illness, published by Wiley.
FEATURES

Explores the intellectual basis of narrative in medicine

Contributors and editors are leading figures in the field

A timely book when the interface between evidence based and patient centred medicine is increasingly important

To purchase this product, please visit https://www.wiley.com/en-us/9781405146197