Transport Geographies: Mobilities, Flows and Spaces
Richard Knowles (Editor), Jon Shaw (Editor), Iain Docherty (Editor)

DESCRIPTION

A student-friendly, issues-based text providing an introduction to the key ideas, concepts and themes of transport geographies. It offers an empirically informed and theoretically robust narrative that highlights the important role of transport in economic, environmental, and urban geographies.

- Emphasizes transport geography as a mainstream of human geography
- An innovative, qualitative approach offering a wide theoretical and empirical base
- A formidable collection of renowned experts in the field
- Superbly illustrated

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Richard Knowles is Professor of Transport Geography at the University of Salford and a member of the Research Institute for the Built and Human Environment.
Jon Shaw is Reader in Human Geography and Director of the Centre for Sustainable Transport at the University of Plymouth.

Iain Docherty is a Senior Lecturer in the Department of Management at the University of Glasgow and Chair of the Transport Geography Research Group of the Royal Geographical Society (with the Institute of British Geographers).

---

FEATURES

- Student-friendly, issues-based introductory text
- Emphasizes transport geography as a mainstream of human geography
- Highlights the role of transport on economic, environmental and urban geographies
- An innovative, qualitative approach offering a wide theoretical and empirical base
- A formidable collection of renowned experts in the field
- Superbly illustrated

For additional product details, please visit https://www.wiley.com/en-us