DESCRIPTION

This powerful manifesto outlines a vision called theological humanism based on the idea that the integrity of life provides a way to articulate the meaning of religion for the human future.

• Explores a profound quest to understand the meaning and responsibility of our shared and yet divided humanity amidst the uncertainty of modern society

• Articulates the idea that human beings are mixed creatures striving for integrity not only trying to conform to God's will

• Sets forth a dynamic and robust vision of human life beyond the divisions that haunt the humanities, social sciences, theology, and religious studies
