DESCRIPTION

Globalization: The Making of World Society is a stimulating, state-of-the-art text for any student of globalization, beginner or advanced.

- Makes a big, abstract topic very accessible through illustration with everyday experience
- Thorough and scholarly but written in an approachable style
- Delves into timely and controversial issues and debates, including the impact of migration, global inequality, and cultural homogeneity
- Combines several perspectives for new interpretation
- Includes chapter outlines and suggestions for further reading

Visit www.wiley.com/go/globalization to access students and instructor resources

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Frank J. Lechner is Professor of Sociology at Emory University in Atlanta. Among his publications dealing with globalization are World Culture: Origins and Consequences (with John Boli) (Blackwell, 2005) and The Netherlands: Globalization and National

RELATED RESOURCES

Student

View Student Companion Site

Instructor

View Instructor Companion Site

FEATURES

• Makes a big, abstract topic very accessible through illustration with everyday experience

• Thorough and scholarly but written with a readable style

• Delves into timely, controversial issues and debates – impact of migration, global inequality, cultural homogeneity

• Combines several perspectives for new interpretation

• Includes chapter outlines and suggestions for further reading

For additional product details, please visit https://www.wiley.com/en-us