Britishness: Perspectives on the British Question
Andrew Gamble (Editor), Tony Wright (Editor)

DESCRIPTION

Distinguished contributors from a range of disciplines explore the question of Britishness – past, present and future.

•

   A lively and authoritative discussion of an important, timely and contemporary issue

•

   Investigates how devolution has brought a new focus on the future of Britain and the nature of Britishness

•

   Discusses the challenge of a more diverse society, with the search for a basis of social cohesion and solidarity

•

   Examines Gordon Brown’s Britishness project, with its aim of producing a statement of British values

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Andrew Gamble is Professor of Politics at the University of Sheffield. He is joint editor of The Political Quarterly and his books include Between Europe and America: The Future of British Politics (2003) and Politics and Fate (2000).
Tony Wright is MP for Cannock Chase and Chairman of the Public Administration Committee in the House of Commons. He is joint editor of The Political Quarterly and his books include The British Political Process (1999) and Socialisms: Old and New (1996).

Andrew Gamble and Tony Wright have also co-edited The New Social Democracy (1999) and Restating The State? (2004).

FEATURES

• Features distinguished contributors from a range of disciplines who explore the question of Britishness – past, present, and future

• A lively and authoritative discussion of an important, timely, and contemporary issue

• Investigates how devolution has brought a new focus on the future of Britain, and the nature of Britishness

• Discusses the challenge of a more diverse society, with the search for a basis of social cohesion and solidarity

• Examines Gordon Brown's Britishness Project, with its aim of producing a statement of British values

SERIES

Political Quarterly Monograph Series

For additional product details, please visit https://www.wiley.com/en-us