DESCRIPTION

In this pathbreaking work, now available in paperback, Charles Tilly challenges all previous formulations of state development in Europe. Specifically, Tilly charges that most available explanations fail because they do not account for the great variety of kinds of states which were viable at different stages of European history, and because they assume a unilinear path of state development resolving in today's national state.

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Charles Tilly is University Distinguished Professor at the New School for Social Research, where he directs the Centre for Studies of Social Change.

FEATURES

* A grand sweeping analysis of the formation of nationalities in Europe over a thousand years, explained in terms of the level and concentration of capital and the use of coercion.

* Provocative, controversial and very well written.
* Very distinguished author.

* Finished by examining contemporary state formation across the globe in the light of the European experience.

* A grand sweeping analysis of the formation of nationalities in Europe over a thousand years, explained in terms of the level and concentration of capital and the use of coercion.

* Provocative, controversial and very well written.

* Very distinguished author.

* Finished by examining contemporary state formation across the globe in the light of the European experience.